Mike Westbrook

Mike Westbrook, a songwriter living in St. Paul, MN, defies easy musical categorization. His songs encompass as many moods as the genres he writes in; from brooding and serious instrumental rock, to playful and upbeat club tracks, and heartfelt, story driven country songs.

At times, it can seem like the songs were written by different people. In a sense, this is true. According to Mike “I just love music, period. Not a style or a genre; just music. Music is a language and it’s universal. There are so many facets to it, so why limit yourself to one specific point of view? That’s like a painter limiting him or herself to one brush and one color. You’re ignoring the rest of the palette.”

Though his songs cover a multitude of styles and topics, Mike continues to diversify his interests and to explore new avenues of expression. “I’m always looking for fresh angles; both lyrically and musically. I just want to write the best songs that I can; expressing feelings and experiences we can all relate to, but hopefully in ways that nobody has thought of before.”
